TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY
Department of English™

Graduate Programs

TECHNICAL COMMUNICATION & RHETORIC

Our graduate programs promise you:

- State-of-the-art research facilities and intuitive online learning technologies
- Highly productive faculty
- Flexible learning schedules for working professionals
- Generous funding and teaching opportunities for on-site students
- Robust professional development
- Excellent track record for industry and academic job placement

MA in Technical Communication

- Online program caters to working professionals with flexible course timeline
- Practical courses in web, document, information, and user-centered design, technical editing, reports, and style
- Strong industry placement track record
- Two years of university teaching experience for on-site students
- Preparation of industry-friendly portfolio at conclusion of degree

PhD in Technical Communication & Rhetoric

- Guaranteed 4 years of funding ($20,000) for on-site students
- 100% success rate (last 5 years) of PhD graduates receiving industry and academic job offers
- Robust professional development program
- Online PhD students have the same courses, same faculty, and same degree
- Convenient evening courses taught synchronously blending together both on-site and online students

TCR at TTU: The Perfect Blend of Theory and Praxis

On-site students can take advantage of state-of-the-art research labs for user experience, media, digital humanities, and podcasting, allowing them to hone industry-friendly skills and produce cutting-edge practical and theoretical research. To date, TCR labs and their faculty and graduate students have generated dozens of publications, multiple patents, and hundreds of thousands of dollars in research support.

Questions? Contact our Director of Graduate Studies: Christiana.Christofides@ttu.edu